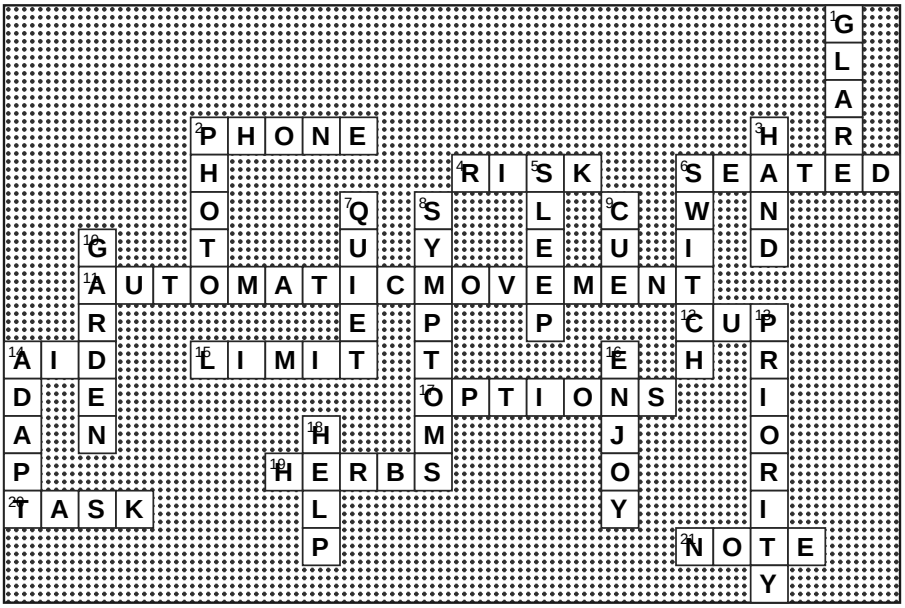
FND Education · Module 10 Review



Across

2. An
interruption machine,
occasionally used to call people.

4. A possibility to weigh, not a prediction of failure.

6. Gardening from a chair rather than standing.

11. An action made without directing each tiny step.

12. A
drink container that may benefit from a lid.

14. A practical helper that reduces a task's demands.

15. A boundary that may change from day to day.

17. Several reasonable paths when plans must change.

19. Leafy garden seasonings, not extra physiotherapy equipment.

20. One job, until three others join the queue.

21. Pocket-sized
backup for a forgetful moment.

Down

1. Harsh
lighting that may make a clinic trip harder.

2. Camera-captured keepsake that can jog a family memory.

3. The body part that may jerk during delicate drawing.

5. The nightly appointment with your pillow.

6. Change jobs, then try finding your place again.

7. The café quality that lets a conversation breathe.

8. Experiences that can change from
day to day.

9. A prompt that points you back to an unfinished job.

10. Herbs, raised planters and a chair
with a view.

13. The job served first in a crowded mental queue.

14. Change the way you draw without quitting art.

16. To do this with art, you needn't draw perfect lines.

18. Accepting this with watering doesn't surrender the garden.